Materials Needed on Day 1

- The published is between workbook editions. They still have the 4th available if you call and ask. Alternatively, you can get the 5th edition but it will not ship until September. This leaves you with two options to acquire this required workbook.

Option #1 (preferred, especially if you are taking macro in the fall): Call this number and tell them you want to order the AP Macroeconomics Student Workbook, 4th edition. 240-547-2850

Option #2: Use this link to order the 5th edition. We will find some sort of workaround until your workbook arrives in September.

TIPS: DO NOT BUY THE EBOOK. DO NOT ACCIDENTALLY BUY THE TEACHER’S MANUAL. DO NOT BUY IT ELSEWHERE, SUCH AS AMAZON. TRUST US ON THIS! If you have financial need, please contact one of the AP Macro Teachers.

- 4 Function Basic Calculator. If it costs more than $5, it is too fancy! The College Board has strict rules regarding calculators.

- Composition book for warm-up assignment.
- 3 ring notebook with dividers (recommended to stay organized)
- Pencil, pen, paper
- Ruler (optional)
- Graph paper (optional)
- Students will need a Chromebook once they are issued.

Summer Reading: Optional but strongly encouraged!

Incentive to do the reading and assignment: Satisfactory completion of the summer work any time prior to the last day of Thanksgiving Break will earn the student up to a 100% replacement grade for their lowest test grade. However, the students may not take a zero on a test and replace it with a 100%.

	Unsatisfactory 0-3	Below Expectations 4-6	Meets Expectations 7 or 8	Exceeds Expectations 9 or 10	Multi-plier	Your Score
Proper Length	ALL definitions and examples are too short or too long.	Most definitions and examples are too short or too long.	Some definitions and examples are too short or too long.	ALL terms are defined in 1 -2 sentences, ALL example are explained in 3-5 sentences.	2
Terms & definitions	Copied directly from another source.	Copied some definitions word-for-word from the book, the internet, or another source OR incorrectly defined many terms.	Attempted to use one's own words to define the selected terms but made some minor errors. Copied word-for-word from the book/internet for a few terms.	Chose a good term to work with and used one's own words to define it. All definitions were correct.	3
Examples	Examples were copied directly from another source and/or some of the "original" examples were nearly identical to those seen in another student's work.	All examples came from another source (rather than one's own head) but were "reworked".	Some examples are original and others were obtained through an internet search but then reworked to avoid plagiarism.	All examples are original and are correct for the selected terms.	5
