

FRANK D. MURPHY

Frank D. Murphy, the Founder and CEO of the Mentoring with Purpose Charity, is a former NFL player who has since dedicated his life to helping today's youth to become productive and innovative. Frank D. Murphy's career as a professional football player began with being drafted by the Chicago Bears. He was also a running back, wide receiver and return specialist for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, Miami Dolphins and the Houston Texans.

Frank D. Murphy's passion and desire to help youth moved him to begin the Mentoring with Purpose Charity in 2008. The organization hosts the Annual Put Down Your Fake I.D. Leadership Conference.

In 2017, Frank D. Murphy was honored with the President Barack Obama Lifetime Achievement Award, the Tampa Bay Lightning Community Hero Award, and the Most Valuable Philanthropist in Sports Award. He was also granted the Key to the City of Callahan, Florida. Frank D. Murphy is the author of the best-selling book The Man Behind the Helmet, which is forwarded by Super-Bowl Champion, Coach Tony Dungy. Also, to Mr. Murphy's credit, he has developed successful media productions which include an educational stage play and the Frank D. Murphy's Digital Life Skills Curriculum Program.
